

Justice camp

Court clerk Joshua Gillis (left) swears in witness Dan Quinton while Crown prosecutor Bridget O'Brien (centre) waits to begin her questioning during a youth justice camp conducted entirely in French Wednesday at provincial court in St. John's. The event was presented by the Public Legal Information Association of Newfoundland and Labrador in association with Franco-Jeunes de Terre-Neuve et du Labrador. The camp offers youth the chance to learn about the Canadian justice system in a practical setting. — Photo by Gary Hebbard/The Telegram
