CALLS

We are dedicated to cultural diversity in our programming, and encourage applications from artists, art collectives, and curators of diverse communities and backgrounds. We accept applications from local, provincial, national, and international artists for the Main Gallery.

Eastern Edge provides the following to selected Main Gallery exhibitors:

- Eastern Edge pays artist fees in accordance with the current CARFAC Fee Schedule under Category 1.
- Artists exhibiting in the Main Gallery will be paid an artist fee of $2,204.
- Exhibiting artists will be offered the opportunity to give an artist talk or workshop for an additional fee of $335.
- We offer a modest travel budget of up to $600, and a return shipping budget of up to $350.
- We encourage selected artists and curators to apply for additional travel and project funding if necessary.
- If required, the gallery will be pleased to assist with letters of support.
- We commission an essay/written piece to accompany the exhibition.
- We have the exhibition professionally documented.

We are happy to accept proposals in alternative formats such as audio, video, or Zoom interview submissions. The full call for submissions can be found on our website!

Indigenous Art Writing Award

Call for submissions

We're thrilled to launch the 2nd annual Indigenous Art Writing Award, an initiative created to support, compensate, and platform three standout individuals who are advancing critical and creative thought about Indigenous contemporary art. Presented by C Magazine and the Indigenous Curatorial Collective.

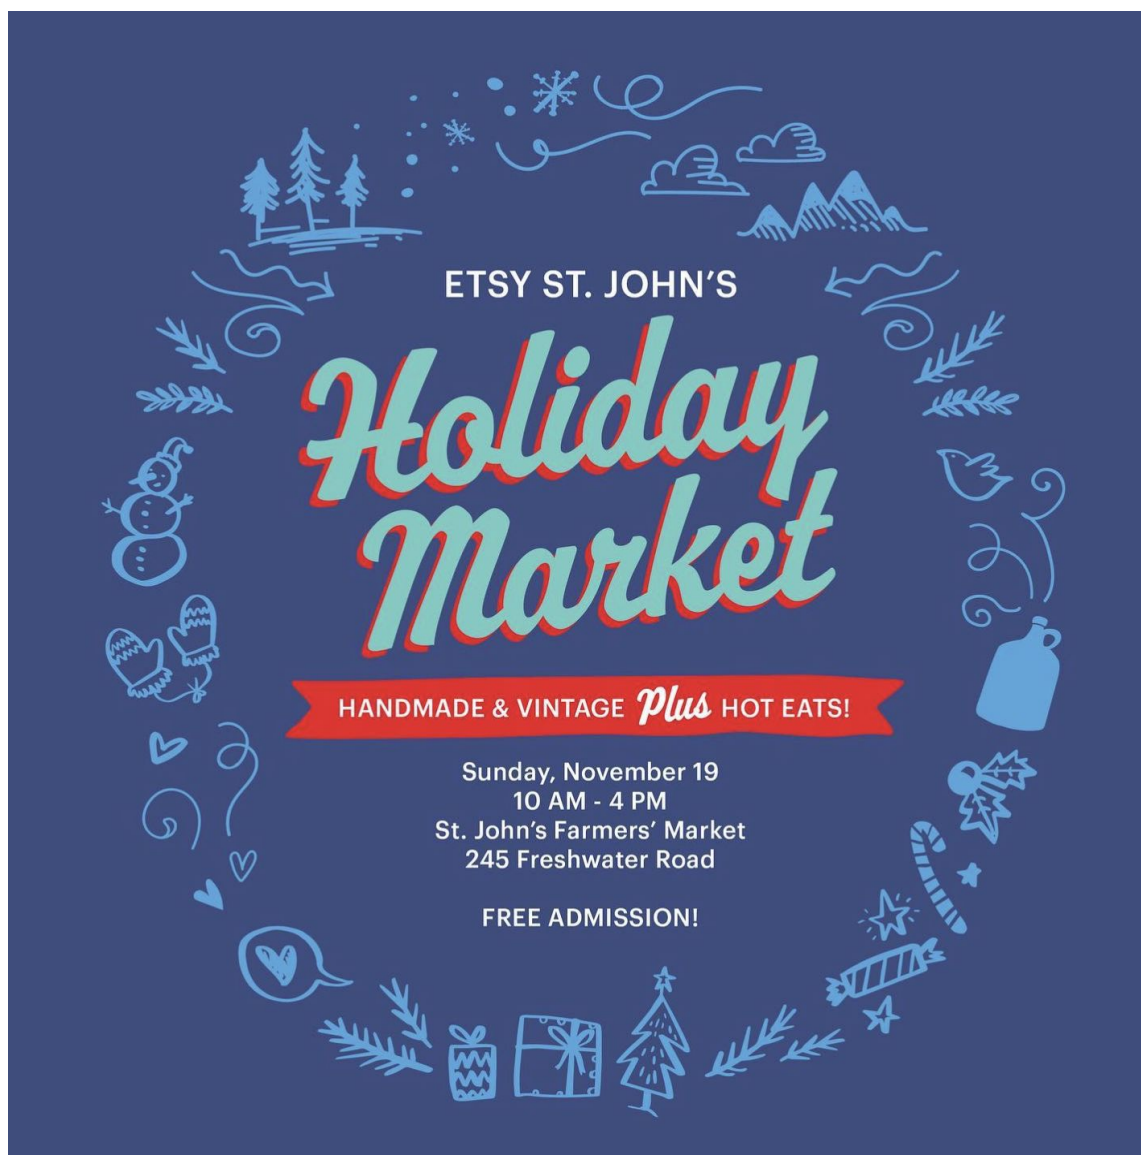

Indigenous writers are invited to submit a single non-fiction (creative non-fiction welcome!) text about an artist, project, exhibition, performance, event, initiative, or theme. Suggested length for submissions is between 1000-2000 words.

The winner will receive $1500 CAD, editorial support to prepare their article for publication in an upcoming issue of C Magazine, and a two-year subscription. Each of the two runners-up will receive $1000 CAD, an invitation to develop a pitch for a different text to be published in C Magazine, and a two-year subscription. All participants will have the option to request feedback, and will receive a one-year subscription.

Applicants must identify as an Indigenous person. There are no geographical restrictions, although we strongly encourage those based in Canada to apply. Submissions should be primarily in English, but may include non-English words or phrases. For submissions entirely in another language, we require translations. The award will be adjudicated by an ICCA representative, a C Magazine editor, and an external juror. One submission per applicant. Complete the submission form by October 30, 2023.

2023 Austin Clarke Prize

Submission Deadline: November 1, 2023

First Prize: $1000, Runner-Up: $200

Poetry Judge: Billy-Ray Belcourt

Fiction Judge: Cody Caetano

The Ex-PUR:tan

Submissions for the 2023 Austin Clarke Prize in Literary Excellence are open! We are excited to announce that this year's judges are Billy-Ray Belcourt (poetry) and Cody Caetano (fiction).

The Austin Clarke Prize in Literary Excellence encourages our readers and writers to think through what it means to rebuke the Canadian cultural establishment. We want our writers to continue Austin Clarke's legacy by reimagining the boundaries of Canadian literature. Although we divide this award by entries into fiction and poetry, we want our submitters to reimagine the boundaries of what fiction and poetry can look like. We actively encourage submissions that are experimental with form and unrelentingly demand an attention to their style.

The deadline to submit to the 2023 Austin Clarke Prize in Literary Excellence is November 1st, 2023. Further information and the link to submit is in our bio. The award for first prize is $1,000, and for runner-up is $200.
